FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Women in eDiscovery Announces its Legaltech New York Schedule of CLE Sessions and Go Red Campaign

MINNEAPOLIS, MN - January 12, 2016 - Women in eDiscovery, an organization that brings together women interested in technology related to the legal profession, today announced that it will once again support the American Heart Association's Go Red campaign and host a half day of CLE-eligible events at Legaltech New York.

Every year, Women in eDiscovery offers its members and other Legaltech attendees the opportunity to network and participate in panel discussions that share the knowledge and expertise of the organization. In addition to its educational discussion, attendees will have the opportunity to participate in a Go Red campaign to raise heart disease awareness.

All Legaltech attendees, exhibitors and Women in eDiscovery members are invited to participate in these events, which will be held at the New York Hilton Midtown's Nassau Suite on Thursday, February 4.

Schedule of events:

Cybersecurity Threat – Are Mobile Apps and the Internet of Things Gateways to Security Breaches?

10:30 a.m. to 11:45 a.m.

As businesses grapple with knowing their network environments are likely compromised and employees battle a constant barrage of phishing schemes, cybersecurity challenges continue to mount in intensity and complexity. Organizations react with increased budgets in security and an emphasis on restricting access to critical data by employees and third parties. How are organizations keeping up with the latest trends and expanding vulnerabilities introduced by mobile devices and personal wearables? Panelists will share the main security threats of 2015 with a prediction of challenges for enterprises in 2016. This interactive session will explore security risks such as the Internet of Things, mobile computing, virtual payment systems and ransomware.

Panelists:

- Kelly Twigger, principal, ESI Attorneys
- Kelly Volz, senior manager, Ernst & Young, Fraud and Investigation and Dispute Services (FIDS)
- Jenna McAuley, chief information security officer, Mercer
- Rachael N. Clark, counsel, Medical Forefronts
- Mary Ellen Callahan, partner, Jenner & Block

Safe Harbor No More

12:15 p.m. to 1:30 p.m.

What does the future hold once safe harbor is no longer pertinent? Is there a new norm for the transfer of data? What are the guidelines related to PII (personally identifiable information)?

Now that Europe's top court has declared the EU-U.S. data agreement invalid, thousands of U.S. companies will need to change the way they treat the personal data of customers and employees. This panel will discuss practical considerations for cross-border data exchange among the Americas, EMEA, EU, and Asia-Pacific.

Panelists:

- Jo Sherman, founder and CEO, EDT Software
- Amie Taal, vice president, Group Incident & Investigation Management, Deutsche Bank
- Lauren Barnes, vice president, Records & Information Management, Credit Suisse
- Lisa Sotto, partner, Hunton & Williams
- Dana Post, special counsel, E-Discovery and Data Management, Freshfields Bruckhaus Deringer

Go Red Campaign

The American Heart Association Go Red campaign has had repeated success year after year, and once again Women in eDiscovery has chosen to support this cause. During Legaltech, members and attendees can purchase $5 raffle tickets for a chance to win one of two lavish gift totes donated by Kiersted Systems. Kiersted, an eDiscovery and legal technology consulting company, has been an ardent supporter of both Women in eDiscovery and the Go Red campaign. All proceeds will go to the AHA. Anyone who donates online will also be included in the drawing. Winners need not be present to win. Donate today. Our goal this year is $2,016.

In 2007, Women in eDiscovery held its first meeting in Washington, D.C., with 30 women in attendance. Today, the organization has achieved global reach with more than 4,000 members.
